

FF&E CONSULTANCY

INTRODUCTION

Space provide Furniture, Fittings and Equipment (FF&E) Consultancy on projects with a large or complex FF&E scope. As an independent consultant, we are not aligned with any furniture company and provide objective, expert advice on the planning of space, the specification of the FF&E, the procurement strategy, as well as managing stakeholder engagement to ensure that the needs of the ultimate users of the facility are met.

Our consultants constantly maintain their knowledge of the FF&E marketplace, ensuring that they are fully conversant in current regulations and compliance requirements, as well as having a broad knowledge of the latest FF&E products available on the market. This expertise alongside our consultative approach makes us an invaluable part of the project team.

HOW WE DO IT

OUTCOMES

The built environment is evolving to have fewer and fewer walls. The result is that furniture plays a critical role in delineating space and providing alternative work settings in the absence of traditional rooms. Getting FF&E right can be the cornerstone of delivering a great project.

Our FF&E Consultancy typically delivers significant cost savings which can be crucial to protecting the budget of the overall project at a late stage. However, the critical element is that these cost savings are achieved through an independent approach to design, specification and procurement – not by compromising on quality.

We will protect the vision for the facility and understand the functional and lifecycle needs as well as the aesthetic ambition. An independent approach to FF&E also reduces risk on the project, providing greater cost assurance at an earlier stage and ensuring an expert approach to compliant specification. In addition, the right FF&E is procured from the right provider in every case, eliminating the compromises that can be made if a single provider is engaged.
